Petty Officer Leland Lewis Addresses Strathmore Lions

On Thursday, October 14th, the Strathmore Lions Club were privileged to hear a most interesting talk on the experiences of Petty Officer Leland Lewis (of the Log Cabin Garage at Cheadle) as a member of Lord Louis Mountbatten's commandos.

He spoke very lustily of this commander, who led his men into battle, instead of merely giving orders. Incidentally, Mountbatten uses the term "combined operations" instead of commandos to designate those who co-operate with the army in aggressive operations. As such, they are not entirely "navy men".

Petty Officer Lewis first described the rigid commando training in the bleak north of Scotland where there was no amusement, but the men didn't mind because after severe exercise the only place they wanted to go was to bed. Practice on landing barges here was a precursor to the Dieppe raid, which he said was not a blunder, but a very valuable experience in reconnaissance on a large scale. At Dieppe only four types of barges were used, some of ply-wood which were very inferior. Now there are about 17 types of landing barges. The experiences at Dieppe, even though they meant a large loss of men (some of his best buddies) was nevertheless justified in the knowledge obtained which was later used in North Africa and Sicily. He said the Germans are no fools, and that German Intelligence knew of the coming raid 2 or 3 days before and were waiting with "brass bands and typewriters" on shore and U-boats in the water. The Canadian Army engineers were especially complimented on their fighting in this raid.

After Dieppe the British people were much warmer to the Canadians and a leave was greatly appreciated.

His next action was in the landing of troops at North Africa. Very little resistance was met on landing and things were much more orderly due to experiences at Dieppe. After landing, however, the Americans were "almost pushed out of Oran and Casablanca" by the French Foreign Legion, who enjoy fighting, and don't care who they fight with.

A compliment to the commandos was given when he stated that all the equipment was put ashore in six days of "hard work" whereas it took eighteen days with cranes and docks to load the convoy at England.

Another leave and more training and then they went south stopping at west port, Africa, where there was nothing but a fueling base and "real Africa" such as one reads in books.

The next stop was Rhodesia, which is a "White Man's Paradise". Here the color line is drawn very sharply, "coffee and cream" or white and black. The blacks do all the physical labor and servants are plentiful. The four days ashore they were treated like members of the families in whose houses all of the Canadian boys (200 in all) were welcomed and they were given a wonderful time.

Pushing north, they came to Aden, which was so dry as it hadn't rained for seven years. Here the British government gives a man credit for a years service if he can stay six months but few can stay long, as it is so disagreeable a place to live.

On northward to Suez, where they practiced maneuvers with the army in preparation for Sicily. On a leave to Cairo he went to see the great pyramids and Sphinx, which were very great and most interesting. The main corridor of the larger pyramid is lined up with the pole star.

Shortly after this they were inspected by General Montgomery who is very unassuming and no one would know his high office except by recognizing him from his pictures or from the fact that he wears two hat badges.

Montgomery addressed the Commandos and said, "You are going back to England, (loud cheers), through France."

Next came Sicily which was unpleasant due to rough seas which upset many intestinal tracts.

The landing was only 15 minutes, sharp fighting on the beach and the commandos only stayed 14 hours before leaving.

Malta, Algiers and Oran and then back to England (with Italian prisoners).

During successive leaves of 5 to 14 days he was able to see a few "gold braids" and wanted a leave home to Canada of 51 days.

Coming home on Corvettes was rough sailing but after 16 drafts and 43 ships he was mighty glad to be home.

He says the boys overseas want letters from home and Canadian cigarettes. The Strathmore Standard, which has been sent to all the boys overseas, is greatly appreciated and is just like a news letter from home.

WEDDING

NICHOLL - PETERSEN

Tuesday, October 12th, at 5.30 p.m. a pretty wedding was solemnized at the Lutheran Church, Calgary, when Ella Nelising Petersen, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Petersen of Standard, became the bride of Sgt. William Donald Nicholl, R. C. M. S. C. only son of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Nicholl of Strathmore, the Rev. T. M. Hansen officiating.

Given in marriage by her father the bride looked very attractive in a slate blue afternoon frock, with corsage of pale yellow tea roses and wearing brown accessories.

She was attended by Miss Dorothy Kimmitt as bridesmaid, who wore a rust colored frock, a corsage of Tallman roses and brown accessories.

The groom was supported by Cpl. D. M. Armstrong, R. C. A. F.

The Wedding Dinner was served in the Brentwood Room of the Empress Hotel, where the reception was held, the happy couple receiving the felicitations of their friends.

The toast to the bride was ably proposed by Rev. Hansen, the groom responding in happy vein.

Later in the evening the young couple motored to Banff where the honeymoon will be spent, the bride wearing a smart beige wool coat over her blue frock.

They will return to Strathmore at the week-end to spend a few days with the groom's parents.

The groom spent most of his school years in Strathmore, graduating from the Strathmore High School and later going on to the U. of A. before joining the Staff of the Royal Bank in which he served some three or four years before joining H. M. Armed Forces. He has many friends in and around Strathmore who will all unite in wishing for him and his bride a long life of happiness and prosperity.

BAINTREE

Mrs. Swenson honored at tea

Before Farewells were said Mrs. J. G. Porteous very kindly gave a reading entitled "Two Happy Days" which added greatly to the enjoyment of the afternoon.

Wife—I want to borrow twenty dollars.

Husband—Twenty dollars!

Wife—Yes, but you only give me ten of it, then you'll owe me ten and I'll owe you ten, and we'll be square.

THE OTTAWA SPOTLIGHT

(Weekly Review of National Affairs)
By M. McDOUGALL

OTTAWA—... The new labor code which the government has been framing after a careful study of the report of the National War Labour Board, will be published any day now. Cabinet discussions are of course secret and reports on decisions of the country's supreme administrative body can only be speculative until they are given out to the public. Everyone agrees that it is a matter of urgent necessity that the code released must place on the shoulders of both employer and employee the same responsibility for holding firm on the war front as a soldier or an airman. To do this inequities that exist in wage scales must be removed, and in particular conditions among these in the lower wage categories must be improved. Special interest has been given to the case of those getting less than 50 cents an hour. The method by which living conditions will be bettered has been a storm centre, as nothing that is done can be allowed to undermine the system of wage control. This is a pillar of the whole anti-inflation structure, and if it falls the whole structure is likely to crumble, which would be nothing less than a national disaster. The government has been faced with the extremely difficult task of arranging a code for labor which adopted will be firmly anchored, and for any violations of which there will be adequate penalties. The recent dock strike at Halifax shocked the capital almost as much as a defeat on a battlefield. Farm Workers for other Essential Industries in Off Season—

One of the manpower problems of great interest at this moment is how to get the maximum number of farm workers to help in other essential industries during the off-season in agriculture. In peace days there was no difficulty in getting seasonal workers for lumbering and other industries and the armed forces. For the coming season men are wanted not only in the logging camps and for fuel wood cutting but they can be used to advantage in base metal and coal mining, in fish packing, on railway track maintenance and repair and in packing plants. An effort is now being made by the Dominion and Provincial authorities to get every farm worker they can to lend a hand when he is not needed on the farm. They hope to get 175,000.

Newsprint Situation—

Because of the fuel shortage, every Canadian householder has a personal interest in wood operations. The pulpwood business it is stated, also needs about 25,000 men for bush operations. A large proportion of the product of pulp mills goes into essential war materials, and the newsprint keeps Canadian and American newspapers going. The whole publishing industry in the United States depends very largely on paper made in Canada and from current reports it appears likely that in November or December there will be further restrictions in the amount of newsprint used by American newspapers. They have already been cut down to 90% of the 1941 consumption. The Prices Board has been reviewing the newsprint situation and it is also being studied at Washington. It is not yet certain whether selective service here will put the industry into B category of essential industries but while that would prevent workmen from leaving the industry without permission of the selective service officials it wouldn't give the extra men needed for bush operations. For that it is dependent on farmers' aid.

NIGHTINGALE

By M. H.

Mr. and Mrs. McPherson of Calgary were Thanksgiving visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Pete McLean.

Mrs. Farr recently had visits from three sisters, Mrs. McDonald, Red Deer; Mrs. Smith, Galeto, Ontario; and Mrs. Sawyer, Ocean Falls, B. C. This is the first time the sisters were together in 12 years.

The Women's Institute held their regular meeting at the hall last Friday. Current events were given in answer to the roll call. A splendid report of Red Cross work, written by Mrs. Tench of Strathmore, was read and very much appreciated. Some Red Cross work was distributed and more quilt blocks were turned in. A very pretty baby quilt is in the making.

Tickets on the lovely prize quilt of last summer will be offered for sale. Mrs. Art Kimmitt very ably conducted an auction sale of home made articles and the sum of $6.55 was realized for the funds.

The directors and executive are holding a special meeting on Wednesday to discuss by-laws and regulations for 1944. This report will be brought to the annual meeting.

Mrs. Holt read an excellent paper on the cotton industry in England. She gave a graphic description of Bolton, her home town. Her paper was much enjoyed and a hearty vote of thanks was given. Mrs. Peter McLean, as hostess of the day served a delicious tea. She sold pieces of an angle cake and made a tidy sum for the Milk for Britain fund. Mrs. Bisacre of Strathmore was a welcome visitor.

Mrs. Penard Hildahl and daughter, Beverly are home again after a few weeks visit with the Hildahl family near Strathmore.

Mrs. Duggan Sr. has gone to Medicine Hat for a visit with her daughter and son-in-law Mr. and Mrs. James Gothard.

Miss Helen Thurston will attend High School in Strathmore. Lois Kinney will go to Rockyford, while Tom Stoodley, Eddie Olynak and Billy Frederick will go to Kathryn.

Kathleen Harriman left on Tuesday from Calgary for Rockcliffe, Ontario, where she will take up her duties as a A. W. with the R. C. A. F.

A few hunters evidently still have some ammunition judging by the shooting around here last Monday.

Harry Trollope, who spent the weekend at home left Tuesday for Edmonton. Thor Larson also returned to Vancouver to take up his work with the R. C. A. F. after spending harvest leave at home.

Mrs. Morgan spent a few days in Strathmore with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lounsbury.

Mrs. Bisacre of Strathmore has been the guest of Mrs. Art Kimmitt for the past week.

Mr. Farr has broken ground to begin construction of his new store, just across the track from the old building.

Show for Bride-Elect

Friday, October 1st, the Danish Church Parlor at Standard were very artistically decorated with Autumn colored flowers and brightly colored leaves, making a very lovely setting for the miscellaneous shower arranged in honor of Miss Ella Petersen bride-elect of the month. Hostesses were Mrs. L. A. Story, Mrs. J. Laursen, Mrs. A. Laursen, Mrs. A. Hansen, Mrs. O. P. Larsen, Mrs. A. E. Nielsen and Mrs. D. Drydale.

Mrs. Story was mistress of ceremonies and no detail was overlooked to ensure the pleasure of all present.

A vocal solo by Mrs. Enevoldsen, and a Duet by Mrs. Stanley Rasmussen and Miss L. Jensen added to the enjoyment of the guests.

Following delicious refreshments Miss Petersen was the recipient of a large number of beautiful gifts comprising a lovely China Breakfast Set, woolen blankets, pretty lamp, several pieces of silverware, some pictures, very fine linens, pyrex pieces etc.

Miss Petersen in a brief, but nicely worded speech thanked her friends for the lovely afternoon, the many beautiful gifts and the good wishes accompanying them.

Miss Petersen's marriage to Mr. Don Nicholl of Strathmore was an event of Tuesday, October 12th.

An elderly man was persuaded by one of his sons to go with him to a boxing match. The son paid for $2 seats.

"Now, dad," said the son joyfully, "you'll see more excitement for $2 than you've ever seen in your life before."

The old man grunted.

"I've got my doubts about that," he said gloomily. "Two dollars was all I paid for my marriage license."

CHANCELLOR

By Mrs. J. M. W.—

Mr. and Mrs. N. I. Hansen, spent 3 days in Calgary this week.

Mary Hnatuk is now working in Calgary. Mary hopes to train for a nurse in February.

Mrs. Chris Erikson is home after taking treatments at the clinic. We are glad she is progressing favorably. Many of the young school children left for Cluny, where they will attend high school. It is going to be lonesome without them.

Johnny Hnatuk is home, after spending a week in Calgary, the guest of Bobby Williams.

Mrs. J. Sauer is visiting in Calgary. Mr. and Mrs. H. Chamney, Mrs. N. Hansen and Mrs. J. M. Wheatley spent the day in Calgary on Friday.

Chancellor was a busy place on Thursday, when many men and women cleaned and decorated the memorial hall for the party in honor of Mr. and Mrs. H. Chamney's silver wedding to be held soon.

Miss Betty Williams, accompanied by her parents moved into the teacherage this week-end.

Miss Betty Umbrite, who will teach Sunny Range School arrived on Sunday.

A. C.2 Jack Allen is home on leave.

We are very sorry to learn of the death of Mr. Percy Crowe at Vancouver. Percy was a veteran of the last war and lived at Chancellor many years. His Mother, Mrs. E. Crowe, still resides here.

Royal Canadian Air Force

Western Canadians, although far removed from the scenes of actual conflict, can help sink enemy ships and down enemy planes simply by using their scissors or by digging up used magazines.

Allied airmen must be able to recognize instantly whether the plane or ship they see is one of "ours" or the enemy's. His very life and the lives of his companions depend upon the accuracy of his observation.

Aircraft Recognition classes are held at all stations. There, students are shown pictures, screen slides and models of every type of craft. Each airman also makes up a personal scrap book for study purposes. It follows that the more pictures he sees of craft from every possible angle, the better his observations will be when he takes to the air on operational flights.

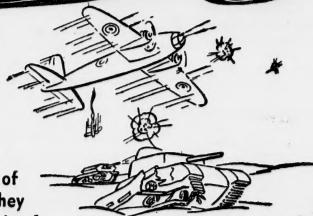

That's where civilians can help. They are urgently asked to send to the nearest air force station or to the Recognition Officer at No. 4 Training Command Headquarters, Calgary, any magazines or clippings of aircraft, either black and white or colored. Any clippings or post cards or other reproductions of ships, either warships or merchant vessels, should be sent to the Recognition Officer at No. 4 Training Command Headquarters, Calgary.

Reproductions of all types of ships are required, not only of enemy nations, but of all other countries as well. The need is real and constant.

When Autumn's in the Air

—By Dale O'Hara—

When the goldenrod is yellow,
An' the river's runnin' south'ard,
When the geese are flyin' south'ard,
An' the hay is in the mow;
When the injun days are drowy,
An' the pointed hills are bare...
Och sure! The world is lovely
When autumn's in the air!

When the leaves are sailin' down'ard,
An' the restless breezes run,
When the squirrels are storin' up the nuts
An' scamperin' in the sun;
When the coyotes yip the loudest,
An' the frosty nights are rare...
Och sure! The world is lovely
When autumn's in the air!

"SPEED THE VICTORY" is a heart,
Some and courage producing Sio-gan.
It instills at once in the minds of the canvassers and canvassed alike the determination to carry on and support the men and provide the munitions and means of offense to the limit of their requirement.

We are all optimistic for the future, and grateful for the changed condition that exists today from that of two years ago.

Nevertheless, this is no time to slacken our efforts.

The troops, in all fields, are carrying on with a greater determination because they now see prospects of their efforts and sacrifices bringing about the Victory for which they long.

They alone cannot achieve that.
They need the money that you and I can give. Let none be a traitor and refuse to subscribe.

Canadians generally are in a much improved financial position this year.
Because of the increased price for their products farmers are better off than two years ago. Because of general employment a much larger number of people are now in gainful occupation.

On the purely financial side of the picture is the fact that Canadian Bonds are a good solid investment.

CARSELAND

DEATH OF MRS. SIEBER

Sincere sympathy of Carseland and district is extended to Rev. Sieber in the loss of his dear wife, Evelyn Viola Sieber, who passed away in Calgary after nearly four months illness.
Though being with us for but a short time, she had become a much loved and valued member of our community.

Mrs. Sieber was born in Ingersoll, Ontario, and spent the early part of her life in Wyereton, Ont., and on the Lake of Bays near Huntsville, where she received her education.

On September 22, 1914 she was married to Mr. Sieber at Huntsville coming west to Edmonton in 1922.

Surviving are, her husband, one daughter, Mrs. Harry Spelman of Edmonton; three grandchildren, two nephews, Rev. Lawrence Sieber of Revelstoke, Stanley Sieber, Oakland a brother Charles Irwin, Perkinville, Ont.

Funeral services were conducted in Calgary Friday by Rev. Rex Brown and Rev. Otto Bolliss and again Saturday in Edmonton with burial in the Edmonton cemetery.

The Ladies Aid will meet Wednesday, October 20th, at the home of Mrs.
Stinson.

Miss Grace Davis and her sister, Mrs. Ashton and children of Banff spent several days with Mr. and Mrs.
W. Slater.

Jimmy Groves returned from the hospital last Thursday after an operation for appendicitis.

Vern Kruger spent the week-end at home.

LEGION NOTES

Those who attended the Legion meeting on Tuesday, had a most interesting evening. Plans are now arranged for the 21st, celebration. As soon as the speakers reply the date will be announced.

A card from Jeanne Hinchliffe with thanks for cigarettes also conveyed regards to his many friends here. Pilot Officer Ray N. Bower, in a letter which the censor kindly passed, the letter heading giving the full address of Ray's location, informs us that with the exception of one member of his crew, all the boys with him are Canadians, that they are with the Bomber Command, and are no doubt well trained for their doings. He feels that the fall of Italy will shorten the war, and is looking forward to the day when he can return and swap yarns with the vets of 1914-1918.

Petty Officer Leland Lewis, guest of the evening, at present on a well-earned leave, was welcomed by the chairman. During the 19 months he has been overseas he has travelled a distance of close on 75,000 miles, and has seen action on many fronts. The members share with him the pride he has in wearing the Commando Badge.
His description of the formation of this force, the youngest in the service and the most daring, details of the various and many different types of landing craft used in combined operations, and the part he played in many different countries was listened to with marked attention. The manner in which the exploits were described was done in a way that those who were or had been on active could appreciate. The remarks were brief, to the point and placing the picture of action right in front of you, showing

DON'T PLAY TAG WITH

The Australian wheat crop, in a preliminary report, is estimated at 89,000 000 bushels, compared with the average of 156,000,000 bushels for the last eight years. Unfavorable weather conditions, reduced manpower, and a shortage of fertilizers have contributed to the decrease.

CHEADLE

by B. W.

Petty Officer Leland Lewis was the guest of honor at a Home Town dance held in Cheadle Hall. After a pleasant evening of dancing and a very nice supper, all the folks gather round to sing 'For He's a Jelly Good Fellow', to which Leland responded in a very able manner.

Messrs Lee Welshimer, Cecil Barber and Red McDougall arrived home from a very successful pheasant hunt at Brooks.

Red and Doris McDougall have found a new way to kill a weasel. They tie it by the tail while they run for a gun. They got it.

Judge— Why haven't you spoken to your wife for ten years?

Husband— I didn't want to interrupt her.

A town girl had gone out on the farm to help with the chores because of the labor shortage. She was gazing at a cow when the farmer came along. "What seems to be puzzling you?" he asked.

Girl— Why hasn't this cow got horns?

Farmer— Well, there are many reasons why some cows don't have horns, some are born without, while some don't get any till they are older, but the main reason why this cow hasn't got horns is because it isn't a cow, it's a horse.

THE 'OUT-SIDE'

● Rabbi Isaac Bertrand Rose of Ottawa and more recently of Irvington, N. J., has been appointed chaplain to the Jewish men in the Canadian Army with the rank of captain. He has been posted to the Pacific Command, Military District No. 11, Vancouver, B. C.

● New Federal Order Will Augment Tires—

Some relief to the motor car problem is expected to be given by the federal order removing restrictions on retreading of passenger automobile tires. More cars are expected to be put in shape for operation on the highways, which also may mean an increased number of car registrations in the present license year.

● Approximately 373,000 head of horses from Ontario and the four Western provinces will be available for restocking Europe in postwar years, according to a survey conducted by the Canadian Percheron Association. British Columbia will likely have about 10,000 head, Saskatchewan 150,000, Alberta 85,000, Manitoba 43,000 and Ontario, 75,000.

● Russia's food situation has been improved by the large harvest in the North Caucasus and other areas in Russia proper.

Denmark's wheat and rye harvest according to latest indications, will probably be larger than last year.

● The Homan Province of China faces a severe food shortage. Although the wheat crop escaped damage, locusts destroyed much of the Autumn crops of millet and beans.

● The U. S. A. estimates that at least 50 million bushels of Canadian wheat will have to be imported to sustain livestock feeding programs in that country.

● The U. S. Government has announced plans for doubling distribution of new farm machinery next year. The program provides for the manufacture of 80% of 1940 production of new machines, compared with 40% of 1940 production allowed this year.

Greece has received 6,558,000 bushels of gift wheat from Canada since shipments started a year ago.

"Do you think he put enough fire into his speech?"

"Yes, but he didn't put enough speech into his fire."

NATIONAL PARKS IN WAR-TIME AND AFTER

Despite increasing travel difficulties attendance at the national parks is still running to substantial figures. In 1942-43 more than 126,000 persons visited Banff National Park alone, and the figures for this year are holding up surprisingly well. About 25 or 30 per cent are men and women from the Armed Forces, including many airmen from Great Britain and the other Dominions. Such visits should have an important effect in promoting interest in the national parks in some other countries within the British Commonwealth, and also in the United States.

It is apparent that due to war-time conditions a great desire for travel and change is being dammed up which will express itself with the return of peace. Before the present restrictions came into effect the national parks were receiving more than a million visitors each year. It may be expected that the demand for recreation and travel after the war will be greater than ever before, and as the national parks rank among the greatest of Canada's playgrounds, they will be called upon to play a leading role in post-war recreation.

Apart from promoting understanding and good-will between neighbors, an annual influx of visitors from other countries brings a market for Canadian agricultural products, handicrafts and manufactured goods right to the door of the producer. It also furnishes increased revenues to transportation companies, hotels, and all the other enterprises catering to the travelling public.

The preservation and promotion of good health among Canadians is likely to occupy a place of prominence in post-war planning. An annual vacation with pay is being advocated in many quarters for people of all income brackets. Travel education is becoming part of our "way of life" on this continent, and travel to the national parks will give Canadians a better idea of the magnitude of their country. Many of the young men from the Armed Forces of the United Nations who visit the national parks express a determination to come back after the war, and are forwarding literature to their friends and relatives abroad in the hope of inducing them to visit Canada when final victory has been achieved. Canada may, therefore, during the early post-war years, be called upon to cope with the influx of visitors from other lands such as this country has never experienced in the past.
